DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communications: Application received 3/31/2000 and IDS's received 4/29/2002, 3/3/2003, and 9/2/2003
2. Claims 1-6 are pending in the case. Claim 1 is an independent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Salas et al. (US006233600B1, filed 7/15/1997).

Regarding independent claim 1, Salas discloses implementing a web site on a computer platform (FIG. 3 and 4). Salas discloses providing means for an administrator to manage implementation of a web site by implementing a database (col. 2, ll. 19-27). Salas discloses assigning a plurality of content contributors for publishing content (col. 3, l. 49- col. 5, l. 3). Salas teaches receiving content (col. 2, ll. 7-8). Salas also teaches publishing without administrator intervention (col. 13, ll. 7-12).

Regarding dependent claim 2, Salas teaches assigning one or more content owners to control publication, for example the “coordinator” (col. 3, ll. 51-57).

Regarding dependent claim 3, Salas teaches apportioning content into a plurality of folders, or eRooms. Salas also teaches that these folders have owners, or “coordinators” (col. 3, ll. 51-57).

Regarding dependent claim 4, Salas discloses providing means for an administrator to manage implementation of a web site by implementing a database (col. 2, ll. 19-27).

Regarding dependent claim 5, Salas teaches a means for the administrator to control the look and feel of the site via the wrapper files (col. 6, ll. 40-55), and the templates (col. 7, ll. 11-20).

Regarding dependent claim 6, Salas also teaches that the content has owners, or “coordinators” (col. 3, ll. 51-57), who set the permissions (col. 14, ll. 44-45). Salas teaches one of those permissions is read (col. 14, ll. 45-46).
